July 2024, Vol. L, No. 1

We have had several big anniversaries at Illinois Public Media lately, but the 50th anniversary of the Friends of WILL is special because it's our chance to celebrate all of you! Five decades is a long time in the world of media, and much has changed in the myriad ways IPM connects with our donors. Technology has offered new ways to engage with you and has given us opportunities to offer interactive benefits like WILL Passport and NPR+.

But one donor benefit has remained near constant throughout the history of the Friends of WILL. Everyone who has worked in our Membership Department has gotten used to answering one very enthusiastic question — "Where is my copy of Patterns?" Our donors have come to expect and appreciate the information it provides every month. And, while we do our best to get it to everyone on time, when it gets lost in the mail we find out quickly. We realize that is because people appreciate and depend on Patterns. It remains our most popular member benefit.

When I first started here about 10 years ago, I immediately identified Patterns as one of the ways IPM sets itself apart from other stations. The design and information it offers members make it unique in our industry. Patterns connects you to the latest programs from PBS and NPR and shows you how your donations are directly invested in local programming and outreach. So, my thanks to the Patterns editors and art designers over the years who have made this publication such an essential part of our donor program. And thanks to you, our Friends, for being so passionate about Patterns and our programming for 50 years!

Examining the future of the Gulf of Maine

Sea Change: The Gulf of Maine, a NOVA Special Presentation, is a story about a sea within the sea, a body of water that is warming 99% faster than the global ocean. What happens here, for the animals in the water, for the jobs dependent upon them, and for the millions of people along its shores, is likely to happen worldwide. We are at a crossroads for the future of the Gulf of Maine — and our oceans. Does it retain enough of its biodiversity and regenerative strength to weather the human-induced storm? Is the sheer beauty of the place and spectacular range of its creatures enough to wake us to the stakes? A fascinating tale about a regional location with profound global implications, this three-part documentary series premieres at 9 pm Wednesday, July 24.

Illinois Soul wins Social Justice Award

Just a few months after its launch, Illinois Soul FM 101.1 was honored with a Social Justice Award presented by the campus Office of Diversity & Social Justice Education. The station, which seeks to amplify Black voices, music, and culture throughout central Illinois with the power of public media, was named Outstanding Program.

Presented in April, the awards seek to honor members of the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign campus and community who have sought to address marginalization, oppression, and/or privilege in their communities.

"It's inspiring to receive recognition from the community so soon after Illinois Soul's Feb. 1 debut," Hardwick said. "The University of Illinois' Social Justice Award is an incredible honor. We've worked hard to make sure the voice of central Illinois' Black community is at the heart of the station's news and public affairs. From development to operations to marketing to news, it's wonderful to receive accolades for the work we're doing."

In presenting the award, it was noted that Illinois Soul has featured interviews with University of Illinois Urbana Champaign Chancellor Robert Jones, Urbana police chief Larry D. Boone, Urbana Poet Laurette and U. of I. Dean Ruby Mendenhall, jazz musician Branford Marsalis, and more. Illinois Soul also has presented segments about new efforts to increase literacy for Black students in Illinois, starting and sustaining a business, and the history and current state of Black gospel music.

The station was nominated by Kellie Blanden, IPM assistant director of educational outreach and professional development. Blanden also delivered the keynote address at the event.

CELEBRATING THE HISTORY OF THE OLYMPIC GAMES

The 2024 Summer Olympics kicks off with opening ceremonies in Paris on Friday, July 26. Celebrate the history of the Olympic Games and a few of the standout athletes with these specials.

African American athletes in 1936 Berlin

Olympic Pride, American Prejudice explores the collective experiences of 18 African American Olympians who defied Jim Crow laws and Adolf Hitler to win hearts and medals at the 1936 Olympic Games in Berlin. Set against the strained and turbulent atmosphere of a racially divided America, the film follows 16 men and two women before, during, and after their heroic turn of events at the Summer Olympics in Berlin. They represented a country that considered them second-class citizens and competed in a country that rolled out the red carpet for them despite an undercurrent of Aryan superiority and anti-Semitism. Olympic Pride, American Prejudice airs at 3:30 pm Wednesday, July 17.

Ali: A symbol of freedom and courage

IT'S AWARD SEASON AT ILLINOIS PUBLIC MEDIA

IPM wins two regional Murrow awards

Illinois Public Media has won two regional Edward R. Murrow awards from the Radio Television Digital News Association. Region 7 comprises Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Ohio.

- “Waukegan’s Woes,” which aired in 2023 as part of IPM’s State of Change, won in the Excellence in Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion category for small market TV. The segment focused on the mostly Black and Latino communities of Waukegan. Their homes sit next to five EPA superfund sites. In addition, climate change threatens coal ash ponds that are less than a mile away from Lake Michigan. The story was produced by Andrea Flores and IPM News and Public Affairs Director Reginald Hardwick. Sam Mirpoorian and Jenny Shi were the videographers and editors. Tinisha Spain reported the story on last year’s State of Change TV special. See next page for PMJA honors.
- Illinois Public Media’s coverage during widespread severe weather last June won in the Breaking News category for small market radio. Meteorologist Andrew Pritchard, Hardwick, and senior digital media producer Steve Morck contributed to the critical coverage of the Illinois derecho that day.

“We’re thrilled to be honored with two regional Murrow awards this year — widely considered the most prestigious award given for local journalism,” said Moss Bresnahan, executive director of Illinois Public Media. “This is a testament to how our team rallies to cover news vital to our community. Andrew’s work is more than weather forecasting or storm tracking — it’s the kind of coverage that can save lives. And ‘Waukegan’s Woes’ is a very important story on the outsized impact environmental changes are having on communities of color. Congratulations to everyone involved.”

The awards are presented to news organizations, not individuals. National winners will be announced in August.

Radio investigative feature wins SPJ award

An investigative news report by Illinois Public Media — in cooperation with the Invisible Institute — was recognized by the Society for Professional Journalists with a 2023 Mark of Excellence Award in Region 5 for radio news reporting. “Champaign Police investigate ‘agency culture’ and domestic violence reporting laws” won first place.

JOURNALISTS

“In her senior year at the University of Illinois, Farrah Anderson pitched and produced a stellar investigation about how domestic violence is investigated in our region,” said IPM News and Public Affairs Director Reginald Hardwick. “Investigative journalism is costly, and it takes time to hold power to account. That’s why IPM News supported Anderson and a partnership with the Pulitzer-prize-winning team at the Invisible Institute.”

Student journalist Farrah Anderson worked with the Invisible Institute, a Chicago-based nonprofit public accountability journalism organization, which helped her request documents and coached her on investigative reporting. Sam Stecklow was the digital editor. Christine Herman was the audio editor. The story was co-reported by Diane Leane of Northwestern University. See next page for PMJA honors.

Region 5 comprises Illinois, Indiana, and Kentucky. As a first-place winner, the story will compete at the national level among other winners from the organization’s 12 regions.

■ Placing second for Interview was a segment on The 21st Show. Brian Mackey hosted and produced the interview with author Luis Alberto Urrea, whose latest novel was inspired by his mother’s experiences in World War II. She operated a Red Cross Clubmobile — providing coffee, donuts, and conversation to American soldiers near the front.

■ Placing second for Collaborative Effort was an investigative feature by student journalist Farrah Anderson. Her story focused on police misconduct related to domestic violence reporting in Champaign County. It was co-reported by Diane Leane of Northwestern University. IPM News collaborated with the Chicago-based nonprofit public accountability journalism organization, Invisible Institute. Sam Stecklow was the digital editor. Christine Herman was the audio editor.

PMJA is a professional association for public media journalists in the United States. Membership includes over 130 local public radio newsrooms across the country.

COVER STORY

Celebrating 50 years of the Friends of WILL

Everyone knows a friend is someone you can count on in good times and bad. And perhaps that's why in 1974 the small group of community members that helped create a member organization for supporters of the WILL stations, aptly named it the "Friends of WILL."

Those original group members and (then) recently appointed director of broadcasting Don Mullally sought to find ways the WILL listeners and viewers could help the stations expand and enrich their services. The focus was on the need for additional funding and the possibility of appealing directly to WILL's audience for financial and volunteer support. The group changed the way we communicate with our viewers and listeners and also initiated the way we fundraise.

In 1974, Debbie Day was hired to lead those fundraising efforts at WILL Radio and TV, continuing in that role until her retirement in 2006. She was WILL's first development director, but her initial job at the station was as a part-time volunteer coordinator.

"When the decision was made in the spring of 1974 to ask WILL listeners and viewers for help funding the stations, no one knew what the response would be," Day said. "And we certainly would never have guessed that donations from these Friends of WILL would become the stations' single largest revenue source. The growth and enrichment of the WILL services truly 'has been made possible by the Friends of WILL.'"

In addition to answering phones during fundraising broadcasts, volunteers helped with concerts in the park, vintage vinyl resale events, and were key to the creation and dedication of Friends Plaza at Campbell Hall for Public Telecommunication.

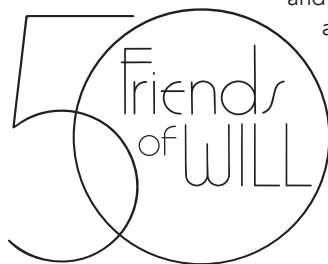

Although the focus of the Friends of WILL has remained the same, the trend of annual giving made way for monthly giving, and payroll deduction became an easy way to donate.

And dedicated supporters also included WILL in their estate plans.

"It was an honor and a privilege to see some of the estate gifts become state-of-the-art equipment for our TV and radio studios, locally produced programs, and more," said Danda Beard, who worked at WILL for 32 years, retiring in 2021 as development director. "That Friends would choose to make gifts for future generations of viewers and listeners and that I would see some of them transform our work has been inspiring."

Throughout the last 50 years, the annual support from the Friends of WILL has grown from $64,000 to more than $2,500,000. Today, more than 12,000 people from around Illinois and beyond are Friends of WILL.

"Their support was not just monetary. They've been our partners every step of the way," said Rita Schulte, who worked at WILL for more than 30 years, retiring in 2012 as director of membership and marketing. "Volunteers would arrive early and stay late to make our fund drives work. And when state or federal funding was threatened, they called, wrote, and even visited their representatives. They made personal visits to Springfield and joined other public media supporters in Washington to make the case for support.”

Friends of WILL volunteers have provided their energy, creative ideas, and special talents in so many ways. They have helped organize and run special events, been spokespeople on and off the air, served as Community Advisors, read books to preschoolers as part of the WILL Book Mentor program, given station tours, and for many years were the mainstay of plate drives.

And as we celebrate 50 years of the Friends of WILL, we want to recognize those early innovators, of course, but most importantly we want to express our appreciation to those who have chosen to support Illinois Public Media over the last 50 years. Our Friends have been an integral part in the evolution and expansion of the stations’ services, helping to ensure more good times than bad ones. We really could not have done it without you.

Sherlock returns to Passport!

One of MASTERPIECE's most beloved crime dramas will be rebroadcast on WILL Passport this summer. Set in contemporary London, Sherlock is the modern and quirky spin on Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's classic detective stories. The series follows the brilliant but eccentric Sherlock Holmes and his faithful friend, Dr. John Watson, as they solve complex crimes and battle diabolical villains.

Throughout its four seasons, the award-winning series explores an array of perplexing mysteries and delves into the complexities of its characters' personal struggles. Benedict Cumberbatch as Holmes captivates audiences with his superior intellect and unorthodox methods. Martin Freeman as Watson provides viewers with a relatable counterpart to Sherlock's unconventional nature.

Sherlock returns to Passport on Sunday, June 30, ahead of its rebroadcast later this year. Friends of WILL get exclusive early access to stream and binge all four seasons and the series' special, The Abominable Bride.
